Description of Layout

Cornard is set in Great Central territory between 1960 and 1968, although it never actually existed. It is based on a cross country single track branch. The goods yard is still busy with commodities for the surrounding area incoming and local produce departing. A factory complex off scene is still rail served and various wagons can be seen shunting to and fro under the aqueduct.

All of the buildings have been scratch-built by members of the club and the stock is fitted with S&W couplings to allow hands free uncoupling.
